Apologies... These words were spoken at Tassajara during August of '69 (It was during that month that the photo of Roshi holding his tea-cup on the back dining room porch was taken):

"Sometimes I get lethargic and discouraged about life and practice"

Roshi: "This is good. We must stand for improvement exactly where our problem is. All practice has these moments."

Is that what you asked me about?
(Hope you're okay.
