

WEDDING MESSAGE

You have been married here in this sanctuary.

Christina you have been joined with a husband.
David you have been joined with a wife.

Your parents, your friends, all things have brought you here today. Your marriage will give confidence to others. This is the way to live and fullfill your lives.

Please take care. Treat each other as the source and make the everyday life your teacher. Know your unconditioned selves.

Courtesy and kindness even in adversity are the doors of compassion. Love is the fruit of compassion.

Originally composed by Shunryu and given to you
by his disciple, Silas,
August 25, 1984