I ever said no to him

Married Emma 1970

Seat Car - then he died + I was heartbroken I loved + respected him.

loved the "Wild West Zen" world coming apart at seams

I came back did nature issues I thought could do 68 photos name D & Gary - not just pictures of Kinhu - we were just safe polite hippies - Dick wants donations keep coming from wealthy left people not want get covered in Philic oil - financed - some back from Europe still had prints went to Tass - talked to SR he said "you're such an angry Tiger - I had oil all everyone was suffering and want to be a friend but just angry Tiger" ~~that~~ #1's approach was thank you for your effort knew problems between Dick + Sid at board meetings embarrassed me - SR obeyed WB but agreed on some cuts and find do what Dick says -

TB?

But Dick had come across more like this WB not for enough " What does this have to do w/ Steel worker up Pittsburg? " yeah - I still feel that way.

I worked w/ Ed on 2nd cookbook was wonderful - I stopped relate to inst but to During those years my relation w/ G very pervasive - now nothing but wonderful feeling - more feeling being in same space - even 50 ft away - w/ scratch his ear + teach - taught nothing - his presence showed you there was a different way to love - it was a pervasive feeling - not dramatic moments - goodness of being aware had picked up a lot of people's ~~lives~~ lives by committing suicide but SR in some way helped us to absorb the initial trauma - a huge act of kindness.

- no sense of anxiety & guilt She tells her self in the a parathose with her throat w/ ZORB open to Nirvana, she wonderfully. He came and was there like a friend - his presence was incredibly important at that difficult time. He ~~was~~ spoke freely to the people and say just the right thing to help them.
He didn't seem to be in any anxiety.
'Dudley' I beautifully. We drove him around for a few days in a convertible Mustang and showed him the country etc. There's a picture of him in a straw hat from that time.
